SITA

Who should participate:

Airport Professionals, at or under 35 years old, currently working at any ACI-LAC Member.

How to participate:

Upon endorsement by their Airport CEO, the young airport Professionals will submit a research paper on the selected topic of airport management, for a panel of judges to review.

The candidate should be able to provide insightful and structural analysis, demonstrate creativity and innovation to proposed solutions, and show vision towards the future aviation industry.

The Award

The winner will be awarded with the title of "ACI-LAC Young Professional of the Year" and will be invited to present the winning paper at the ACI-LAC Annual Conference and Exhibition that will be held in Miami, FL, 6-7 November 2023.

Panel of Judges

The panel of judges will review the submissions and will select the winning research paper. The Panel of judges will be formed by top independent Industry Executives.

Research Topic

- Innovative measures to improve passenger experience

Passenger experience is at the core of the airport business. Airports can gain competitive advantages by investing in innovative solutions that have a positive impact on customer satisfaction. Passenger experience is proven to boost non-aeronautical revenues and establish a positive brand image.

In the research paper, candidate is required to:

- Propose innovative solutions that could improve the passenger experience. These solutions will be based on technological developments, including artificial intelligence.

Submission Guidelines

The research paper submitted should be in Times New Roman 12pt font on A4 sized paper of no more than 2,000 words. References and annexes cannot exceed 5 pages.
